Bombala	NSW	Russian Orthodox Monastery of the Transfiguration	Naylor Vickers	6							Chime. The light six of the old St Jude's steel bells were donated to the Monastery in 2000. The bells were sandblasted, coated with a zinc spray and painted a eucalypt green prior to installation. The bells are hung dead. The clappers have had a hook installed in their flights and each clapper has a rope attached to the hook. Ringing involves pulling the ropes attached to the clappers to make a rhythmical drone. Because the clappers do not stay near the bells after chiming, the bells are more resonant than ever before. Most of the above information came from Elaine Phillips.

Keating gives weight as 32 cwt The rest of his story on p. 124 is also a furphy. See also The Ringing Years on pp. 23-25 and 'A Wayward Bell'. Christchurch	NZ, SI	Christchurch Cathedral	L/B	12+1	1	4	3	8	A	1978	Peal. The whole peal was cast by Taylors in 1978 and hung the same year. The bells were first rung on Christmas Day 1978 and formally dedicated on 21 October 1979. Information given by Mike Clayton and E Bleby, pp. 140-44. Whilst the earthquake of 4.9.2010 and subsequent after-shocks 'temporarily' caused minor damage and interruption to ringing, that of 22.2.2011 was major, resulting in the destruction of the tower and bells. latest news is that only the 5th will need to be recast, but all the fittings will need to be replaced. The bells will be sent back to Taylors. A new tower will be constructed. See R.T. Vol. 65 Sept. 2011.

Church Hill, Sydney	NSW	S. Philip	Thomas Mears	8						1794	Chime. Before the Round Tower was built the bells – because they were so small – were hung in trees near first church in Sydney on corner of Hunter and Castlereagh Streets. Two years after being transferred the Round Tower was destroyed and the bells were transferred to various sites by the Government in NSW. See Ringling Towers 1/1953 pp. 6-9; 1/1958 pp. 7-10; 11/1967 p. 23 para 6; 2/1978; Keating, p. 5.
Church Hill, (Sydney)	NSW	S. Philip	Charles & George Mears	8	1	5	2	16	E	1858	All the original bells were cast in 1858. Because No. 6 bell was cracked it was replaced by a new casting in 2001 and the weight increased from 9. 3. 25 to 10. 0. 1. Of the three other bells in the tower, two are used for chiming only and the third (old no. 6) is unused. (Information from David Killner, Dove online, CJP and CSZ.)

Gwalia is named after the 'Sons of Gwalia' gold mine. The mine had supported up to 3000 people from 1898. It became a ghost town on 21.12.1963 when the mine closed and the population dropped from 1500 to 40 in just three weeks. The first mine manager was Herbert Hoover, later to be US president. The preserved remains of the ghost town are housed in the Leonora Gwalia Historical Museum. (detail taken from Outback magazine, April-May 2005, issue no. 40).

Latrobe	Tas	S. Patrick		1		32	0	0		1882	The original bell had had a chequered career. It had been part of an old peal in a French abbey destroyed by fire. The tenor bell went to England and was then shipped to St Mary's Cathedral, Sydney, to replace the tenor which had cracked in 1866. On arrival it was found to be incompatible with the other bells. When the new peal of 8 was installed in 1882, the French bell found its way to the Catholic Church in Latrobe. When it cracked the bell was re-cast locally and all the original markings etc were not reproduced. See Ringing Towers 12/2000 vol. 56 no. 6 p. 14. Maitland	NSW	S. Paul	Vickers Sons & Co. Sheffield	6	1				F#	1868	Peal. All the bells of the peal were cast in 1868-1869. An earlier bell dated 1851 was melted down in 1902 and never formed part of the peal. The peal was too heavy for the wooden campanile and was hung dead in 1870. The stone campanile was constructed in 1888 and the bells were then hung for ringing. The bells were restored and rehung in 1952 and again in 1980. In 1998 it was announced that the church would be deconsecrated but it is not clear if that happened. (E. Bleby pp. 35-38 and Jonathan Arkless). The bells are the only remaining peal of steel bells in Australia. They are a classic example of 19th century English steel bells and it is good to see them being cared for and regularly rung.

Melbourne	Vic	S. Patrick's Cathedral	Murphy of Dublin	8	1	4	2	14	F	1852	Peal. Bells were first stored at St. Francis' Church in the city until 1868 when they were installed in S. Patrick's Cathedral anti-clockwise. In 1988 the bells were returned to England for restoration A steel frame was built and cast iron headstocks replaced the crown staples. The ring is one of only two remaining Murphy peals in the world, and one of the few hung anti-clockwise. For more information see Bleby pp. 82-85 and The Ringing Years p. 32. The bells have not been actually weighed, but the weights are believed to have been determined by Dave Kelly in 2009 from measurements of physical dimensions and frequencies and are as given in Dove online.

Monaco	NZ, SI	Mrs Fraham private collection									The collection is included because of its uniqueness. The collection consists of buffalo bells, camel and elephant bells. The buffalo bell is brass, 16" long and 6" wide. The elephant bell from Burma is a large brass hollow bell with a rattle of sorts inside. From Bali are two bells of unique shape made of wood. One is in the form of a wide camel face with the tongue doubling as a clapper. The other is 20" long and 3" wide and represents a human head. The mouth runs almost the full length and has serrations on each side. It is sounded by rubbing a wooden bar vigorously up and down the serrations. It can only be presumed that the brass singing bell only 4" high is the camel bell. The singing bell is remarkable in that a person's voice is enough to set it humming in the same way as a violin note is transmitted to a glass goblet. Nanango	Qld	Convent	U/K	1						1872	This bell was formerly in the local Catholic church for 40 years. It was originally donated by Mr James and Mrs Pearey of nearby Tarong Station. When a new bell was given to the church in 1912 the old bell was given to the Convent.
Nanango	Qld	S. George	U/K	1		5	0	0		1912	The church was built in 1870 and named in honour of local landowner George Clapperton who had donated land for a church. This church was blown down in a storm on 9.12.1898 and the site later became railway yards. A new St. George was opened in Alfred Street in 1901."A fine new bell weighing five hundredweight was erected in 1912 in St. George's Church at the instigation of the Nanango Hibernian Australasian Catholic Benefit Society. A new belfry was built and the bell placed in position by Mr. J. Bowden of Nanango, the whole costing just £60." Later on (c. 1927) the church was dismantled and re-erected in Goomeri in a church dedicated to St. Kevin. This information was obtained through the courtesy of the Catholic Weekly and the Brisbane Archdiocesan Archives.

The old frame from St. David's Cathedral, Hobart will house the bells and provision has been made for an additional two bells to be installed at a later date. For more information see Ringing Towers, vol. 64, no. 4, 2010. The Kelttek Trust advised that to augment to an octave the following frequencies will be required—Treble: 1.553 Hz; 2nd: 1.466 Hz. Approval for installation was given in September 2010. It was hoped that the bells would be ringable in time for the 50th anniversary celebrations in June 2012.

Perth	WA	The Bell Tower, home of the Swan Bells	WBF	18	1	4	2	11	D#	1998	Peal. The bells recast in the 16th century by order of Queen Elizabeth 1st are recorded as being in existence from before the 14th century. A further recasting between 1725-1770 was by order of the Prince of Wales who later became King George II. They are one of the few sets of royal bells and are the only [such] ones known to have left England. The original peal of 12 was recast into a 10 in 1725 by Abraham Rudhall, to which two trebles were later added by the same founder. The bells had been installed in the church of St Martin-in -the-Fields in London. The later castings were gifts from various companies, organisations and individuals. Information from the Swan Bell Tower leaflet supplied by Richard Offen, July 2010; Dove online; Ringling World , 2000, p. 478. For more information see Their Sound has Gone Forth , pp. 198-201 by Elizabeth Bleby. These bells are located on Level 4.

Perth	WA	The Bell Tower, home of the Swan Bells	L/B	26	C1	1	1	4	B	1969	Carillon. The origin of these bells is unclear (to me). They were originally the top two octaves of the carillon in Lake Burley Griffin in Canberra. The top 3 bells were recast in Loughborough and an additional bell added in 2006. R.W. 2009 p. 249. Reference to Laith Reynolds and C.J. Pickford may be fruitful. The carillon is on Level 6. Additional information on the Swan Bell Tower given by Richard Offen. In addition to these bells, there are two old sets of tubular bells which have been relocated to the Swan tower. One is a 15 note set made in 1895 by the U.S. Tubular Bell Company for the First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston, Massachusetts, USA. The other is a 12 note set made up of 8 Harrington tubes from Christ Church, Llandudno, Wales, plus 4 Harrington tubes from the Church St Leonard, Hardwick, Northants.

The doubles were disconnected at an early stage, and eventually removed. The carillon was augmented by Taylor to 54 notes/bells in 1976 with the addition of treble bells. In 2003, the top 30 bells were recast or replaced by Whitechapel. Thus that carillon now contains 24 Taylor bells from 1928, none from 1976, and 30 Whitechapel bells from 2003, for a total of 54 (C.S.Z.)
